

Catholic publicist Andrea Pirringer - Press release 2024

Andrea Pirringer, who lives in Bavaria, has been working as a writer since 2003 and has been publishing her works since 2014 as ebooks and as print books.

The area of Christian spiritual literature ekes out for 30 years in the shadows: there are hardly any new generation of writers who offer attractive books on religious topics for a wide audience. - In this niche, the author has established itself.

Meanwhile, more than 150 secular and spiritual works have been published.

She takes on not only long-known, but also current issues and so she spans the gamut (bow) from biblical times to the present. Her topics as diverse works - ranging from the prayer book on the novels to nonfiction - on the one hand want to build on the good literary tradition, but on the other hand also give new impulses. - It is important to her that the faith is experienced as alive and palpable for the reader.

She draws from the rich sources of her long-time spiritual and mystical experience, which could be developed mainly by an intense prayer life and a phase of purification and maturation.

The transmission of the faith and of the knowledge of theological content is a concern of her. From her own personal point of view - which is partly also quite humorous - she writes about topics that are close to her heart, such as prayer, veneration of Mary or the current situation of Christians in Europe. Another focus is on the Christian-Jewish dialogue.

In addition, she also dedicates herself to secular literature. - Her writing style is easy to understand, the ductus straightforward and concise. Each book is compressed knowledge. The reader should receive shortly the essential information; be entertained at the same time. - She therefore demonstrates a keen sense of the spiritual needs of modern man.

Mrs Pirringer is convinced that the Christian faith will never lose importance. Keep it that way, she will also make her contribution and provide the interested readership with ongoing new releases. - One may be curious furthermore!

Her works are now available in three languages in bookstores worldwide. Due to the great international interest, the content on the homepage has been created in three languages.

The new homepage has been available under the new web address since September 2024. It is equipped with an automatic translation function. This allows visitors to translate into more than 40 languages.

The author is also represented in social networks and runs her own YouTube channel.
